RAY MARTIN RETURNS TO PRIME7

ACCLAIMED AUSTRALIAN JOURNALIST TO PRESENT NEW PRIME7 NEWS SPECIAL

Acclaimed Australian journalist Ray Martin returns to PRIME7 to present a second major public affairs special for the network.

Ray Martin's first assignment with PRIME7 News was the compelling special ICE: The Scourge of Regional Australia which aired in December 2016. The gritty one hour program exposed the devastating consequences of the ice epidemic plaguing regional communities, and was one of the highest rating news programs of the year in regional markets.

PRIME7's Head of News Paul Patrick said, "Following the success of the Ice special, we put our foot on the peddle to address more issues affecting regional areas. We're thrilled Ray has come back for another program. He is a consummate journalist and presenter."

"I am thrilled to be involved with another project on PRIME7 News; there are so many more stories out there to be told," said Ray Martin. "It was so pleasing to see the last program resonate so strongly with regional viewers. The next topic is a particularly challenging one but the story must be told."

"The second special will again stimulate discussion about an important issue facing regional Australia, and Ray's involvement adds gravitas that can't be matched", Paul Patrick added.

The PRIME7 News special is currently in production, the telecast date and title to be announced soon.
